President’s Message
Carol Schmitt, Boardman Law Firm LLP

It is a sad time in Wisconsin. If you haven’t heard, I will break the news to you… Brett Favre is retired. But it was inevitable. Eventually all good things must end. And all too soon that will be my story.

Good or bad, this is my last official President Message for the LLAW newsletter. But it isn’t my last entry in the LLAW newsletter. I will be providing some follow-up in the June newsletter as I wrap up loose ends and do a reflection of my term after I have literally hand the torch (gavel) to Jamie Kroening.

Eventually (hopefully) the winter weather will end and spring will be upon us with its longer days, rites of passages and rituals. This brings me to the first point of my article:

LLAW Spring Events and Rituals:
I want to remind each of you that LLAW has its own spring ritual - spring elections. The positions for election are Vice President/President elect, Treasurer and Secretary. Diane Duffey will be announcing the exact slate of candidates soon, so please watch your email for upcoming notices and your mail for the ballots. Remember to cast your votes!

Along the line of change, there will also be some changes in the makeup of the LLAW executive board. Jamie is fast at work getting her executive board in line. Stay tuned to the website and newsletter for the list of new board assignments. If you are interested in serving as a committee chair, contact Jamie at jkroening@gklaw.com

The LLAW Newsletter, official publication of the Law Librarians Association of Wisconsin, Inc., is published quarterly in Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter and distributed to all LLAW members. Dues renewal falls in June of each year. Subscription rate is $4.00 to non-members. For membership information contact Marc Weinberger, Chair of the Membership Committee, U.S. Courts Library, 120 N. Henry Street, Room 550, Madison WI 53703; 608/264-5448. Contact Marc Weinberger at marc_weinberger@ca7.uscourts.gov. Address all inquiries or items of interest to the LLAW Newsletter Editor, Julia Jaet, Marquette University Law Library, PO BOX 3137, Milwaukee WI 53201-3137 or by e-mail to julia.jaet@marquette.edu. Send contributions to Bev Butula, Davis & Kuelthau, S.C., 111 E. Kilbourn Ave, Milwaukee WI 53202 or by email to bbutula@dkattorneys.com.

And last, but not least, the annual addendum to the LLAW Member Directory is ready and available upon request. If you would like a copy of the addendum sent to you, please drop me an email and I can send it to you either via email or regular postal (snail) mail. (Speaking of snail mail…. Don't forget that effective May 12, 2008 postage rates will increase. The cost of a first class mail stamp will be 42¢ - yet another sign of change, but I digress…)

Another ritual of spring is Daylight savings time … time to spring ahead, which is my second point:

Spring Ahead!
Mark you calendars for April 22, 2008 and July 12-15, 2008. These are two big dates for LLAW members.

April 22, 2008 is the 4th Quarter LLAW Meeting/Program. This will be a joint meeting with the Wisconsin SLA chapter and Jamie has a great program planned with Wisconsin Eye. More details to follow.

July 12-15 is the AALL Annual Meeting & Conference in Portland, Oregon. Those of you who are also AALL members have been receiving notices about the program, registration, and events etc for some time now. (And I believe a few of you have already registered!) For those of you considering attending AALL, if cost is a factor, remember that grants are available from LLAW and AALL. See page 4 for more information on an LLAW grant.

If you work in a private law library and are a member of PLL-SIS, consider applying for a PLL-SIS Travel Grant! These grants, sponsored by Wolters-Kluwer, Quidlibet Research, Inc. and Jones-McClure, are available to pay travel expenses, and will be awarded to five PLL members. The process is very simple and painless and several LLAW members have received these grants in the past. See page 11 for more information on these grants.

Now, as you are marking your calendars take time to consider my third point:

LLAW is truly an organization of inspiration and innovation:
I was made abundantly clear of all of this at the third quarter LLAW meeting held on February 20. This teleconference provided a great opportunity to hear from publishers and writers regarding what they look for in articles, what to write about and how to write. (See Carol Hassler's great notes on page 9) You can view a complete bibliography of LLAW members' articles at http://www.aallnet.org/chapter/llaw/articles/index.htm. If you have an idea for an article or would be interested in writing articles, contact Candace Hall Slaminski at chslaminski@michaelbest.com

Speaking of the article campaign, I truly believe neither Bonnie Shucha nor Carol Bannen realized the heights that their writing idea would reach. The effort has reached beyond the borders of Wisconsin and print sources to a national focus and blogs! (As a matter of fact, Bonnie was recently interviewed by Dan Kittay, a writer for American Bar Association's Bar Leader magazine for an article about the LLAW writing program!) Great job!!

In addition to the writing campaign, the talents of the LLAW members continue to astound me. Each of you as LLAW members, continue to amaze me with your great research skills, program ideas, resource sharing techniques, fundraising ideas and genuine camaraderie and respect.

Remember that as law librarians we are our own best promotion and cheerleader! (Go team LLAW!)

With that said, I would like to remind you all that there will be some new librarians coming into the field of librarianship, and perhaps a new law librarian (or two) will be among them. Both the UW-Madison SLIS and the UW-Madison SOIS programs will be holding commencements in May. I have been active in working with several "soon-to-be" librarians at the UW Madison in getting resumes and cover letters together and polished in hopes of landing the first professional library gig. Over the last few weeks, I have had an opportunity to meet several individuals interested in special librarianship and law librarianship to boot. It is an exciting time for them and an opportunity for me to promote librarianship, and especially law librarianship, as a profession. I encourage you all to take advantage of opportunities to share your storehouse of knowledge and expertise with students. Volunteer as a mentor or offer to host a practicum experience or take part in a panel discussion. Offer your assistance in teaching a class or providing research assistance to library students and perhaps others in the legal community (i.e. paralegal studies)

All this brings me to my closing thought …plant a seed and watch it grow!

Happy Spring everyone!
Member News

Carol Bannen, Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren, and Bonnie Shucha, University of Wisconsin Law Library, were recognized by the Wisconsin Bar at the last LLAW membership meeting for their publishing initiative and contributions over the past several years. Congratulations!

Bev Butula, Davis & Kuelthau:
- published Bella is Bewildered About Blogs on LLRX.com on January 22, 2008
- published Online Resources for Going Green in the February 25 issue of the Wisconsin Law Journal
- recently spoke to the Milwaukee Hire Center on Internet search strategies.

LLAW Grants Deadline for 2008 AALL Annual Meeting is April 4, 2008

Challenging programs. The exhibit hall. Networking. Free food. All are among the benefits of attending AALL’s annual meeting.

The Grants Committee of LLAW is pleased to announce it is now accepting applications for two $800 grants for the upcoming AALL Annual Meeting. The 2008 meeting will be held July 12-15 in Portland, voted by Money Magazine as North America’s Best Big City. Completed applications must be received by April 4, 2008. While these grants will not pay all expenses, it is a significant contribution and a tangible benefit to being a LLAW member.

In selecting grant recipients, the Grants Committee will consider:

- Lack of financial assistance from employer
- Commitment to law librarianship as demonstrated by employment record and professional activities
- Participation in LLAW and potential benefit to the chapter
- Potential benefit to the applicant for enhancing skills and professional development
- Whether the applicant has been awarded a LLAW grant previously.

For additional information, including the application form, see http://www.aallnet.org/chapter/law/grants/index.htm

Unusual Items in our Library Collections

Carol Bannen, Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren:

We have a popcorn popper as part of our collection now. We actually bought it because we were renting it each year for National Library Week.

* * * * * *

Diane Duffey, Habush Habush & Rottier:

Our collection includes anatomical models which have been ordered for various medical cases - some of these are:

- An ear, complete with ear canal, removable parts (wax sold separately)
- The head comes apart down the middle to see the inner anatomy; when reattached, the right side of his face is skull only
- Open wi-i-i-i-i-ide…
- A head with removable brains

* * * * * *

Julia Jaet, Marquette University Law Library:

We have a study break area in our library with puzzles and games, as well as a giant crossword that hangs on a 7’ by 7’ wall space and has 28,000 clues for over 91,000 squares.

Mary Jo Koranda, UW Law Library:

With about 600 circs, one of our most popular items in UW Law Library reserve collection is a ping pong paddle pouch. There is a table located near the student atrium on the first floor and at the end of most days as I start down the stairs, I can already hear the ball bouncing off the table from five floors up. It provides the students with some stress relief and they are usually having a great time as well.

* * * * * *

Mary J. Koshollek, Godfrey & Kahn:

We have a cookbook that was written by the Lawyers Wives Club of Greater Milwaukee in 1966 that benefitted the Legal Aid Society. What a time capsule!

Entitled The Law & the Palate the book has chapters entitled Pre-Trial Motions (Brunches and Spreads), The Noon Recess (Luncheon food), Preliminary Herrings (Appetizers), Judicial Proceedings (Dinners), Bill of Unparticulars (Miscellaneous) and finally, Dessertations (Desserts).

Notable contributors include Mrs. Harold Hallows, Mrs. Lewis Stocking, Mrs. Joseph Tierney, Mrs. Alan Steinmetz, Mrs. Robert Habush and the list goes on! The forward is fascinating as it details the legal palate from the times of the English Inns of Court to the 60's. Fun reading and fun cooking.

* * * * * *

Liz Shelton, Foley & Lardner:

The most unusual item that I have come across in Foley & Lardner’s Milwaukee Library collection is the 734-page morbidly fascinating tome, Law of Cadavers and of Burial and Burial Places by Percivel E. Jackson, copyright 1936. Although it is far from being a popular title, it has been checked out a fair number of times—the last being in 2004.

Libraries Great and Small
Julie Tessmer, Wisconsin State Law Library

Throughout history there have been many great libraries…the Royal Library of Alexandria, the Library of Pergamum, the Villa of the Papyri, and the list goes on and on. For a reader, all libraries big and small contain something of interest.

In January, I boarded a small double hulled cruise ship in Ushuaia, Argentina, a place known as Fin de Mundo… the End of the World. Our course was through the Beagle Channel, across the Drake Passage and down the Antarctica Peninsula with stops at Deception Point, Port Lockery, Paradise Island and Half Moon Island.

The first day on the ship, I set out to explore. I came across a cozy room marked “Library” on the upper deck. The room was furnished with comfortable chairs and the walls had photos of faraway places. The small collection seemed well organized and content seemed perfect for vacationers.

By my calculations, there were over 1600 volumes in the collection. The books were arranged by topics including, biography, history, sports & leisure, science and self-help. There was also a reference section, a large print collection, children’s books and a special collection on Antarctica. I estimated that about half of the collection of fiction.

The most interesting collection to me was the travel section which had guidebooks from all over the world; places like Tunisia, Dubai, Syria and Lombok. Where should I go next?

In addition to the library, there was also a book exchange to which I donated two paperbacks. I checked back mid-cruise and the collection had almost doubled in size!

The cruise ship library did have one more thing which made it special…a view of the ocean, glaciers and massive floating icebergs so old that the ice was blue. In the sky, the seabirds Skuas, Petrels, Sheathbills and Albatross glided by slowly.

If I looked up from my book at just the right moment, I’d be lucky to see a whale spout and then wait eagerly for the fluke. As you may have guessed, I didn’t get a lot of reading done but I did enjoy spending time in the library.
Notes from LLAW Publishing Meeting
Compiled by Carol Hassler, Wisconsin State Law Library
February 20, 2008 (See page 18 for the Business Meeting Minutes)

Check the Publishing Initiatives Caucus to browse through articles written by law librarians. Email & RSS alerts are available. Also provides resources for learning how to get published and a discussion forum.
http://www.aallnet.org/caucus/pic/

Some places to get published:
Wisconsin Lawyer
Wisconsin Law Journal
Wisconsin Assn. of Legal Administrators
Paralegal association newsletters
SLA or other newsletters
WLA newsletter
State Marketing Assn.

Where to get ideas for articles:
Think broadly. What organizations need articles written? Does not necessarily have to be library-related publications.
Update something previously written
Focus on topical research
Pull content from classes taught
Provide practice tips
Focus on general issues – web technologies, etc.
Look at bibliographies from other AALL chapters
Librarian-specific issues (e.g. Acquisitions, Circulation, etc.)
Topics lawyers struggle with: globalization, technology, money management, battle for talent, changing demographics, evolution of law

Getting published:
Check the publication to see if your article is a match (check previous issues)
What’s your target audience?
Does your style work w/ the publication?
Check length requirements
Does your timing meet publication schedule, etc?
Check to see if anyone else has done something similar
In your query letter, point out your affiliations – what are your credentials? Why should they publish you?
If they reject your article, get feedback and suggestions for other places to publish.
Be useful in your article and willing to be helpful and responsive to comments
Be neutral in your focus
Have a good story – a hook to catch people’s interest
Cite authorities but keep the footnoting down unless you’re aiming for a law review
Illustrate your article with photos, charts, or other useful illustrations
Keep the style simple – short paragraphs and simple sentences
AALL Call for Papers Program at 2008 Portland Annual Meeting

Each year, with the sponsorship of Lexis-Nexis, AALL conducts a "Call for Papers" competition to recognize librarians who author significant works of scholarship. The winners of the AALL Lexis-Nexis Call for Papers Award discuss their respective papers in a session at the AALL Annual Meeting. This year’s program - to which all conference attendees are invited to attend – will be held on Sunday, July 13th at 3:00 p.m.

It is not too late to enter the Call for Papers competition. Although the deadline for the “Open” and “New Librarian” categories was March 1, 2008, the deadline in the “Student” category is April 15, 2008. Visit the Call for Papers web page at http://www.aallnet.org/about/award_call_for_papers.asp for information on how to enter.

In addition to presentations by the award winners, the program also includes a guest speaker. This year’s guest will be Michael Chiorazzi, director of the law library and professor of law at the University of Arizona. Mr. Chiorazzi is the editor of Legal Reference Services Quarterly, and co-editor of Prestatehood Legal Materials: A Fifty-State Research Guide, which won AALL’s 2007 Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographic Award.

The Call for Papers Committee looks forward to reading your entries to this year’s competition, and to seeing you in Portland at our program.

AALL Grants for Workshop/Annual Meeting

AALL is offering grants to newer librarians or library students to attend either the AALL Annual Meeting in July or to cover the cost of registration at one of the workshops offered before the conference.

Please note that the grants application deadline is April 1, 2008:
http://www.aallnet.org/committee/grants/grant_application.asp

April 1 Deadline for AALL Research Grant Applications

The AALL Research Committee is accepting applications for research grants from the AALL Research Fund: An Endowment Established by LexisNexis®. A single grant of up to $5,000, or multiple grants totaling $5,000, may be awarded. The committee will award one or more grants to library professionals who wish to conduct research that supports the research and scholarly agenda of the profession of law librarianship. For more information, see the grant announcement at: http://www.aallnet.org/committee/research/lexisGrantAnnouncement.pdf.

Some recently funded grant projects include:
Index to State Judges' Inductions, Memorials, etc. from the Official State Court Reports (Dr. Joel Fishman, Allegheny County Law Library)

Merging Reference & Circulation Services: The Savior or Undoing of Reference in Academic Law Libraries (Wendy Scott and Christine Demetros, H. Douglas Barclay Law Library, Syracuse University College of Law)

The Effectiveness of SAILS as an Information Literacy Assessment for Law Students (Molly Brownfield and Dennis Kim-Prieto, Rutgers Law Library)

Please contact Susan Lerdal, Chair, AALL Research Committee at susan.lerdal@drake.edu if you have questions.
PLL-SIS Travel Grants

If you don't have the funds to get to AALL, and don't want to hitchhike; if you want to go to AALL and still impress your boss with your thrift, apply for a PLL-SIS Travel Grant! These grants, sponsored by Wolters-Kluwer, Quidlibet Research, Inc. and Jones-McClure, are available to pay travel expenses, and will be awarded to five PLL members.

Follow this link to the form http://www.aallnet.org/sis/pllsis/commgrp/grantscomm.asp, fill it out, and return it to the address or fax below, or e-mail it to baugh@woodsrogers.com. Forms are due by March 31, 2008, and you'll be notified of the Committee's decision by April 15. As a former grant recipient, I can't say enough about their benefit, and am grateful to the sponsors for their support of PLL-SIS and its members.

Hope to see you in Portland! We will recognize our grant recipients at the PLL business meeting the morning of Sunday, July 13th.

AALL Mentor Project applications

The AALL Mentoring Project matches new law librarians with experienced law librarians providing an opportunity for a reliable, neutral source of professional guidance outside of the mentee's place of employment. The Mentoring Committee aims to recruit mentors that intend to maintain contact beyond the AALL Annual Meeting. Attendance at AALL is not a prerequisite for serving in either capacity.

A new feature of the Mentor Project is the matching of Mentors and Mentees on a rolling basis as matches reflecting mentor and mentee applicant preferences can be made. To ensure a match prior to the Annual Meeting in Portland complete the application available at http://www.aallnet.org/committee/mentoring/mentor_project.html by May 11.

Questions about the Mentor Project can be directed to me at eadelman@buffalo.edu.

“Symposium: Constitutional Challenges to Copyright.” Columbia Journal of Law & the Arts 30:245-679 (Spring 2007)

This issue presents papers and panel discussions from a symposium that was organized to explore Congressional power to enact copyright laws and the nature of the limitations on that power.

In 2003 the Supreme Court upheld the Children’s Internet Protection Act, which conditioned the availability of federal funds to public libraries on compliance with Internet filtering requirements. This note considers the effect of that decision on congressional spending power limits.

The author examines several recent opinions and concludes that they do not support efforts to justify the Google Library Project on the grounds that it is “transformative.” He suggest that courts analyze each of the fair use factors to ensure that Google’s activities are consistent with them.

III. President’s Report – Carol Schmitt

- The President congratulated Bev Butula for winning the Unsung Heroes Award.
- The LLAW nominations period is coming up.
- Since November, the President has been involved in completing three AALL surveys regarding the following issues:
  - Barriers that prevent members from participating in Chapter activities;
  - AALL grants to Chapters; and
  - Recruiting to LLAW and law librarianship in general.
- The Revisor of Statutes Bureau is no longer in existence, and all duties have been transferred to the Legislative Reference Bureau.
- Thank you to the many members who assisted or presented at the Solo and Small Firm Conference conducted by the State Bar at the end of November.
- The LLAW web page needs some amount of updating, including the LLAW brochure and some of the chapter procedures. The President is following up on this.

IV. Committee Reports

Archives (open chair position): No report.

Government Relations (Tony Chan): No report

Grants (Barb Fritschel): Barb completed an AALL survey regarding whether more support is needed and the use of grants in the past. Barb also reported that she been appointed to the program planning committee for the 2009 AALL convention.

Membership (Marc Weinberger):

Currently there are:

- Active members: 72
- Associate members: 2
- Student members: 9
- Sustaining members: 2
- Total members: 85

The committee is working on comparing the membership list to the discussion list to obtain new possible members. Marc asked that if anyone knows of prospective members, that they send their names to him. The committee will also review the perks of membership and may consider moves to enhance perks to members or restrict perks to members only. Currently, LLAW is one of few listservs that does not require membership in order to post. This may be evaluated.

Newsletter (Julia Jaet/Bev Butula): The deadline for the next newsletter is March 3rd. Any articles or stories are welcome. This issue is featuring a piece on “the most unusual item in your collection;” members are encouraged to send in a write-up or photos.

Nominating (Diane Duffey): Diane will finalize nominations list by March 1st. She has sent an e-mail seeking nominations and interest in leadership. The officer positions of President Elect and possibly Treasurer are open.

Placement (Angela Henes): No report.

Program (Jenny Zook/Jamie Kroening): Jenny asked that if anyone has suggestions for the fourth quarterly meeting, which will be in April or so, that they send them to her. Jenny will be stepping down as co-chair of this committee.

PALI (Angela Sanfilippo): No report.

Public Relations/Articles (Laura La Rose/Candace Hall Slaminski): Candace reported that authors are always being sought for the article writing effort.

Web (Heidi Yelk): No report.

V. Old Business

- LLAW Membership Survey: The Survey Committee had a recent meeting to review the survey results in more depth and to discuss possible actions based on the results. The survey generally revealed that LLAW is doing what it is supposed to be doing. There were no glaring issues appearing from the survey. Members are generally content. From a change standpoint, the survey did not produce many suggestions. The survey will be the subject of another column in the upcoming LLAW Newsletter.

- Calendar Fundraising (Bev): The Fundraising Committee will be holding another meeting in March. Bev reported that about 30 photos have been received. At the March meeting, the committee will choose photos, and get some facts together, both fun and practical, to incorporate into the calendar.

VI. New Business

None.

VII. Other Announcements

- AALL Officer – Call for nominees: There are two AALL Executive Board positions open as well as the position of President Elect. If any members are interested, they should let Carol Schmitt know. AALL would especially be pleased with interested private firm librarians, as these members have not been traditionally well-represented on the Board.

- UW SLIS Resume Workshops March 4, 6, 8: Carol Schmitt will be volunteering on the 4th and the 6th. These are not just law librarian candidates, but students wanting a resume review in general. They are seeking more volunteers to review the resumes.

VIII. Miscellaneous

No report.

IX. Adjournment

Kellee Selden-Huston moved to adjourn the meeting at 6:35 p.m., and Connie Von Der Heide seconded the motion. The members unanimously agreed. No one opposed, and no one abstained.

The business meeting was followed by a program called, “How to write for the legal community: Where to get your ideas and how to submit your articles to a legal editor for publication.” The program featured a panel which included authors and LLAW members Bev Butula, Carol Bannen and Bonnie Shucha; Tony Anderson of the Wisconsin Law Journal; Joyce Hastings of the State Bar of Wisconsin; and Tom Watson of the Wisconsin Lawyer Editorial Board. *See page 9 for program notes.

On behalf of the State Bar of Wisconsin, Joyce Hastings LLAW authors for their contributions to the Wisconsin Lawyer, and in particular recognized Carol Bannen and Bonnie Shucha for their effort.

LLAW would like to thank Wolters-Kluwer for sponsoring this meeting.
